A NYSDOS funded project to prepare a management plan for Mt. Sinai Harbor, a 455-acre estuarine water body with diverse uses, natural resources, cultural resources, and environmental stresses. The Harbor Management Plan provides recommendations to assist in balancing water-dependent recreational uses, active and passive upland recreation, open space and habitat protection, water quality improvement, and general long-term management for the use and improvement of the coastal resource area. Implementation strategies were also developed for public walkways, trail connections, waterfront access points and stormwater improvements throughout the Harbor management area as a part of the Management Plan. The Management Plan was accepted by the NYSDOS and adopted by the Town of Brookhaven.
